Charges for holding American Depositary Receipts (ADRs) and Global Depositary Receipts (GDRs)

If you invest in ADRs or GDRs you may have to pay additional charges which are levied by the Depositary agent and passed onto us by the custodian who holds the security, normally DTCC, Euroclear or Clearstream.

These charges will typically be in the range of USD $0.02 to USD $0.05, payable per annum for each unit or share held but may vary according to the custodian and issuer.

We will convert any such charges into GBP and apply these pro rata to all holders of the ADR/GDR, either by debiting your account directly and/or from any dividend that the ADR/GDR may distribute.
